Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Applicant's response of 9/19/05 has been entered. Currently claims 22-25,32-35 are pending.

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 22-25,32-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rondeau (5850433).

For claims 22,32, Rondeau discloses an online service directory where a customer can search for a desired service. There is a server 28 and a registry 14 that contains descriptive information about services that are available. The recited electronic device is 18. The network adapter is 32. With respect to the language reciting that the electronic device is "to receive...." a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In this case, the intended use imparts no further structure to the claim and is solely directed to the intended manner of use. Applicant should take notice that all the claim recites structurally is a server, a registry, and an electronic device (singular). This is anticipated by Rondeau.

For claims 23-25,33-35, these claims are reciting the intended use of the apparatus and are also anticipated by Rondeau for the same reasons as explained with respect to claims 22,32.

3. Applicant's arguments filed 9/19/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has argued that the examiner has failed to set forth why the prior art is fully capable of performing the intended use recitation in the article claims that the examiner has found to be inherent. The electronic device 18 of Rondeau is fully capable of receiving a service request from another device and can find another device to send a request to as claimed. Nothing in the disclosure of the prior art would lead one to believe that the device 18 is not capable of what has been claimed, especially because the electronic device 18 is a computer and can communicate data to the server and receive data from the server. The fact that computer 18 can receive and send out data means that it can also do what has been claimed. Applicant is arguing an intended use method to impart patentability to an article claim, where the intended use is not reciting any further structure to the system that is not found in the prior art. The argument is non-persuasive. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Dennis Ruhl whose telephone number is 571-272-6808. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Friday.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, John Weiss can be reached on 571-272-6812. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 703-872-9306.
